Certified Agencies may use the HAP Standard Certification Logo as per Agreed Conditions

Usage of the HAP Standard Mark and Certificate

- Certified agencies may use the terms certified or certification and well as registered. They may not use the term accredited.
- The mark should include reference to the HAP Standard year and title
- Certified agencies may not adapt or modify the HAP Standard mark.
- Usage of the mark should conform to the agreed guidelines. Note: This limits the agency to use the logo linked only to their declared humanitarian operations.
- The mark or certificate should not be used as product guarantees
- Reproduction of the scope that the certification covers is essential in all communications concerning the certificate. This includes usage in all geographical locations covered by the certificate.
- The mark and certificate should be removed once the certification period is completed or replaced if the agency has undergone re-certification.
